Meijering, G.R.
(2012) Faculty of Humanities Theses
(Master thesis)

Abstract
Between 499 and 387 the Greek city-state Miletus in Ionia (modern south-western Turkey) found itself within the spheres of influence of both Athens and the Achaemenid Empire. It has long been thought that from 499 to 479, the Persians dominated Miletus. After their defeat in the Persian Wars (479) the... read more

Contact Utrecht University Repository: Call us: +31 (0) 30 2536115 Mail to: library@uu.nl

Empire and polis revisited. Miletus, Athens and the Achaemenids, 499-387 BCE