Abstract

Many Canadians believe that immigrants steal jobs away from qualified Canadians, abuse the healthcare system and refuse to participate in Canadian culture. In About Canada: Immigration, Gogia and Slade challenge these myths with a thorough investigation of the realities of immigrating to Canada. Examining historical immigration policies, the authors note that these policies were always fundamentally racist, favouring whites, unless hard labourers were needed. Although current policies are no longer explicitly racist, they do continue to favour certain kinds of applicants. Many recent immigrants to Canada are highly trained and educated professionals, and yet few of them, contrary to the myth, find work in their area of expertise. Despite the fact that these experts could contribute significantly to Canadian society, deeply ingrained racism, suspicion and fear keep immigrants out of these jobs. On the other hand, Canada also requires construction workers, nannies and agricultural workers — but few immigrants who do this work qualify for citizenship. About Canada: Immigration argues that we need to move beyond these myths and build an immigration policy that meets the needs of Canadian society.
If you are a Canada immigration aspirant, this page is especially designed for you, so that you can get extensive information about the complete Canadian Immigration process and Visa Categories, i.e. Permanent Residency Visa, Work Visa, Visit Visa, Student Visa, Business Visa, etc. Click on the links below to get the inclusive information and details about the popular Visa Categories in Canada. Read more. Permanent Visa. Canadian Immigration Lawyer: How to Immigrate to Canada. Read below to get an overview of how to immigrate to Canada. As one of the most popular immigration destinations, Canada attracts immigrants from all over the world. Canada’s stable economy, high standard of living, educated population and low crime rates make Canada a preferred destination for immigrants worldwide. The federal government is aiming to bring a total of 310,000 newcomers to Canada in 2018. Why not you become one of them?